

What's Cookin' at MTI ?

January 17, 2008

SkillsUSA are here! Culinary Arts students are picking their areas of expertise and are practicing. Next week the first round of competition begins. The winners of this round continue on to Regionals. Along with this there are functions going on, the County Fair and daily lunch to be prepared . Most exciting is we are getting new students in both in Adults, High School and our evening course with Chef Doyon and Creative Cooking classes with Chef Nicole every Tuesday night! Culinary Arts is definitely growing by leaps and bounds.

Don't forget Monday 21st is a day off. Our students love the class so much so show up on days off!!!

Oooooops wrong speed!*

Hopper figures out how many sandwiches he needs, Kory is makin' bacon

Pepzi made great soups this past week, Karlo and Ryan prepare to clean up,

This weeks Dress Code Guidelines: Students may not wear footwear that are NOT secured at the heel. This includes flip-flops or thong sandals.

Here's something to keep you occupied over the weekend,

Question: You throw away the outside and cook the inside. Then you eat the outside and throw away the inside. What did you eat?

Mr. "C" says, "If you want to find something that's fair in life, go to Palmetto the week-end! Make sure to stop by the MTI booth."

That will do it for this week..enjoy your long week-end off. Stay safe and healthy because the next couple of months it's all hands on deck! Me? I've got to turn the lights off and go home and like you should.....Go Cook sumthin'!
